A FAMILY GATHERING, BY JAMES WILD

WHY HERE · JAMES WILD

“A family gathering needs two things a hotel rarely gives at once: a house where everyone can be together, and a resort that looks after them. Parrot Cay has both — every house is on the sand, with its own pool and a COMO butler.”

WHERE EVERYONE SLEEPS

Three ways to house a gathering

A · ONE HOUSE · 8 TO 10

Mechayah Beach House

Four en-suite bedrooms on its own beach; the cinema room becomes a fifth.

B · TWO HOUSES, ONE ESTATE

Serenity

Two four-bedroom villas, eight en-suite bedrooms: a house per branch.

C · A CLUSTER ON THE BEACH

Lotus Flower + beach house

Four bedrooms and a pavilion pool, plus a Family Beach House for the grandparents.

LAYOUT A · OUR LEAD PICK

Mechayah Beach House

753 m² on its own beach. Eight guests in four en-suite suites, each with a garden shower; the media room converts to a fifth bedroom.

Dining and living rooms open to the terrace, with a kitchen, scullery, outdoor grill and yoga lounge.

Suites at both ends, the table in the middle — the shape of a gathering.

LAYOUT C · THE CLUSTER

Lotus Flower

A two-storey villa of four bedrooms for eight guests, 408 m², with indoor and outdoor dining.

The optional stand-alone central pavilion, with its own pool, becomes the family's living room. The guest villa adds two bedrooms with bathrooms, a screened living room, a kitchen and a deck.

Add a Family Beach House and the grandparents have their own door on the sand.

FOR FAMILIES WITH LITTLE ONES

Villa Frangipani

On the beachfront, 279 m², for six guests: two en-suite bedrooms in the main villa and a detached primary suite.

A separate nanny building, a full kitchen, a covered dining area and an outdoor fire pit.

Parents sleep apart, the nanny is close, and the fire pit is where the evenings end.
